By Telegraph to The Times.
Washington, Nov. 23.—[By the Asso ciated Press.] There was bustle and confusion in the Arlington Hotel this morning before the meeting of the Republican National Committee. Republican National Committee.
Leaders of the delegations had prepared themselves for the presentation to the committee of the superior merits of their respective cities, and were en-gaged in canvassing the list of committeemen and holding up the hopes of their delegations. Messrs. McKinley and Foraker were conspicuous amonthe many persons thronging the lob bies and corridors, and were everywhere greeted with marked consideration. Members of the committee itself were slow in getting together. Eleven o'clock was the hour appointed for the meeting, but at that time not more than a dozen members were present in the hall. By half-past 11 o'clock the doors were closed upon all but members, and the committee held a secret ses-

The committee was called together by Acting Chairman Clarkson, every State and Territory being represented except New Mexico, whose delegate was detained on the road.

The first business was the acceptance of the resignations of Chairman Quay and Treasurer Dudley. The resolutions of commendation adopted by the Executive Committee last summer, when the resignations were presented, were laid before the committee and unanimously readopted. The action of the committee in naming J. S. Clarkson of lowa as chairman and W. G. Barbonr of New York as treasurer was approved. York as treasurer was approved.

The contest between McBride and Barton for the Utah representation was decided in favor of McBride.

Dennis T. Flynn of Oklahoma presented his credentials, which were approved and Mr. Flynn was admitted, increasing the membership of the committee to forty-five.

Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey was elected vice-chairman, and, after deciding to allow one hour to representatives of each city competing for the convenient to the doors were opened at 2.40 tion, the doors were opened at 2:40 and representatives of the press were admitted with the delegations. M'KENNA'S PLEA FOR 'FRISCO.

When California was reached M. de Young introduced as the spokesman for San Francisco Congressman McKenna San Francisco Congressman McKenna, who addressed the committee. The city of San Francisco, he said, would be found to have claims to consideration, regarding not only her interests and the interests of the Pacific section, but the interests of the Republican party. He could best review the titles of San Francisco by reviewing the objections Francisco by reviewing the objections urged against them. Mr. McKenna said it was urged that the city of San Fran-cisco is too far away. That argument had not much foundation and led to ome strange suggestions. The splendid sqme strange suggestions. The splendid size of the country seemed to be getting inconvenient to politicians. Dread to be away from home had not heretofore been considered one of their conspicu-ous characteristics (laughter.). If geographical considerations prevail, other places besides San Francisco were object places besides San Francisco were objectionable. Six days would be the extreme amount of time consumed in travel between San Francisco and any othercity. Was that consumption of time a consideration? Yes, if the days be wasteful days; no, if they be workful days. And he emphatically declared that they would be workful days. Where would other such useful and workful days be found. People would flock to the Pacific States by thousands. Every town of the broad land would be Every town of the broad land would be a center of interest and animation. Every pleasure felt and every sight seen would be a memento of the Republican party. Could anything better be done in any other six days? The travel would be the means of exciting, arousing and instructing the country. It would be a splendid opportunity, because he sincerely believed that the political party which broke away from the dry-as-dust conservatism of doing a thing because it has always been done, and placed a national political conven-Every town of the broad land would be thing because it has always been done, and placed a national political convention for the first time in the West, amid an emotional, enthusiastic, impressionable people, would achieve a triumph. A Western friend told him recently that he often came East to get the conceit taken out of him. He (McKenna) would not send Eastern men West for such a purpose, because everybody knew that Eastern men had no conceit. [Laughter.] But he would send West those who had public functions to perform so that they should get that breadth of thought and sentiment which came from such contact. It had taken one great man of antiquity fifteen years to compose a panegyric on taken one great man or antiquity inteen years to compose a panegyric on the city of Athens, and what could he (McKenna) do in fifteen minutes for the great city beyond the Rocky Mountains? He went on to speak of the hotel facilities of San Francisco, and quoted in relation thereof the verse.

Judge C. R. Scott of Omaha spoke for that city. He ridiculed the other competitors. New York had her Burchard, for the West had elected Blaine, and San Francisco had nothing beyond except China. Chicago was rapacious to get the World's Fair. She promised the West to help get the National Rethe West to help get the National Re-publican Convention in 1892. Carey said it was the gate-way of the new empire of the West way of the new empire of the West and North. There were six new States voting next time for President, and they should be stimulated by the convention

John M. Thurston also pleaded for Omaha. After 1900, said he, the Reomaha. After 1900, said to the publicans of the West would no longer ask for conventions, but would be masters of the situation politically.

The claims of New York were next presented, Elliott F. Shepherd being the first speaker. He dwelt on the accommodations New York could furnish, and said that she had no candidate. All would have equal chance. San Francisco was his second choice. New York city usually furnished the Republican party two-thirds of its sinews of war. There is no vacation for New York. There is no vacation for New York Republicans; they must fight to save the State from the enemy and the convention meant much for them.

Senator Hawley of Connecticut also spoke for New York, and Mr. Fassett closed the case for that city. He said there was not an atom of force they could afford to despise.

New York State had never but twice failed to give its vote for the Republican ticket, and on one of those occasions the grandest Republican of them

It was not to be expected that such a man would be found in the National Republican Convention. [Laughter.] The city of San Francisco had entertained the Knights Templar and Grand Army of the Republic, with a spontaneous politeness and such unwearied courtesy and care that every member thought he was the special guest of the city and that the whole business had been gotten up for his entertainment.

Chauncey Filley of St. Louis spoke within reach.

All the evening the Tribune office was besieged with inquirers. Owing to the storm news was slow in reaching this city. Politicians and business men, however, hung around until bulletins announcing the result were received. The news spread quickly throughout the streets, and all over town could be heard cheers and yells of the excited populace. All classes irrespective of politics are enthusiastic, and all will work tooth and toe-nail to properly entertain the delegates and the crowd that will be here at the same From a political standpoint it is considered a most excellent thing for the city and entire Northwest. The dissatisfaction among the grangers, people here think, will be quelled, and all in all it has been a great fight for the Northwest and Minneapolis in particu-

More Stringent Measures to Be Adopted on CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] Reports of extensive opium smuggling and the establishment of illicit distilleries along the Dakota and Minnesota border, together with continued and numerous violations of the Chinese exclusion act, have caused the Treasury Department to take more decided measures against these illegal practices. The department has decided on a change, and the headquarters of operations along the northwest-ern border have been shifted from Chi-

Funeral of Actor Florence

New York, Nov. 23 .- Funeral ser vices over the remains of William J. Florence took place this morning in St. Agnes's Church. Crowds of people fol-lowed the body from the Fifth Avenue Hotel to the church, inside of which every seat was occupied. Flowers were to be seen in great profusion. The pall-bearers were: Edwin Booth, A. M. Palmer, William Winter, Charles N. Vilas, C. F. Fearing, Clayton Mc-Micheal and John Russell Young. The ceremonies were unusually beautiful and impressive, and at their conclusion the body was taken to Woodland Cemetery.

London, Nov. 23.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Dispatches from Rio Janeiro this afternoon bring intelli-gence that the opposition to Da Fonseca has gathered sufficient force to break through the barriers and make itself master of the situation. All that is known is that the uprising was for-midable. Da Fonseca considered it impossible longer to maintain the ascendancy and surrendered his authority. Whether the opposition will be content to allow Peixotto, about whom little is known here, to assume the leadership of the state is not known, but it is not believed that he will be permitted to act as Chief Executive even temporarily, unless he is in sympathy with the revolutionary movement.

A FEW SHOTS FIRED.

The Insurgents Triumph Almost With-out Encountering Resistance. Rio Janeiro, Nov. 23.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Peixotto is forming a government. The inhabitants of this city, whose sympathies have been with the Congressional party have at last thrown off all guise of adherence to the existing government and have declared their determined opposition to the dictatorship of Gen. Da Fonseca, and they resolve that he must abandon the Presidency, which he has held for only a comparatively short period. Like Dom Pedro, President Da Fonseca has quietly yielded to the demand of has quietly yielded to the demand of the people that the executive of the Brazilian government be deposed from Brazilian government be deposed from his office.

The people of this city arose in arms against the dictator's government today. The uprising thus far is very successful and the insurgents accomplished the ends for which they had been secretly planning. Among the first things the revolutionists did this morning was to increase their store of arms ing was to increase their store of arms and ammunition. A strong force made an attack on the naval arsenal, and after a weak and only half-hearted effort on the part of those stationed at the palace to repulse the invaders, the latter took possession of the arsenal and all munitions of war which it conand all munitions of war which it con-tained. Only a few shots were ex-changed and the poor resistance made by the defenders is shown by the fact that none of the insurgent force is re-ported to have been killed or seriously wounded. A laborer in the arsenal was struck by one of the shots fired by the attacking party and is the only contest-ant known to have lost his life in the assault. One of the cannon balls from the arsenal was badly directed and struck a church, causing considerable

The news of the uprising had a very disquieting effect and created the greatst alarm in the city among women and children and thos ecitizens who had not taken arms in support of either party, and when the fighting begun at the arsenal and the rattle of musketry and boom of cannon were heard, all were seized with a wild panic and fied to places of safety until the firing ceased and the confict was at are not as the confict was at a confict was a confict

Merchants and shopkeepers, fearful that their places be looted, made haste to close their establishments and securely bolt and bar both doors and windows. All their preparations were unnecessary, however, for as already described the attack on the arsenal was only of short duration, and beyond smaking the portions and beyond smashing the portions struck by cannon balls no further damage was inflicted upon property and very little disorder prevailed.

Soon the people were rejoicing at the overthrow of the dictator. Members of his cab net soon resigned, and a manifesto of Da Fonseca announcing that he would cay to the will of the resolutive. resto of Da Fonseca announcing that he would cow to the will of the people was issued. Orange and Lemon Lands

At Redlands, Mentone and Barton Ranch. Only 10 per cent cash down; no further payment for 6 and 10 years

Over $400.000 worth of this class of land has been sold by the undersigned in Mentone and Redlands in the past two years in 10 and 20-scre tracts and ALL to settlers, most of which is now planted and has handsome residences thereon.

The demand for land at MENTONE has increased very materially since last winter on account of not having any frost there to injure the most delicate shoot on the orange tree.

The demand will be greater now than ever before, for the reason that the recent storms did not do one dollar's damage.

The formation of the mountains around MENTONE is such that it is almost entirely free from the north and east winds, it being about $500 feet above sea level, and about 30 miles from the ocean, the fogs do not drift in. The air is cool in summer and warm and trin winter the county of the control of the mountains. The olives grown on three-year-old trees received first premium at the State Citrus Fair this year.

Location.

Mentone is the highest station on the Santa Fe Beit R. R. Il miles from San Bernardino, only 3 miles east of the business center of Redlands. The Motor line and Southern Pacific are now preparing to extend their roads to Mentone; they are within three miles of there at present.

The oranges, lemons, olives and all other fruits grown at MENTONE and vicinity are the best and highest priced in the market, as there is no black smut, no scale bug of ruit pests of any kind. There are orange, lemon and about all other kinds of fruits and vines there more than 20 years old. Some of the orange trees bearing is boxes to the tree, and some of the lemons 20 boxes.

The prettiest Hotel in Southern California show being built at MENTONE. It will be lighted with incandescent lights.

Chance for Contract Work. Any settler at MENTONE will have the privilege of paying one-fourth the price of this land in contract work or team work by the day, provided he has an agreement to that effect in writing at time of purchase.

10 and 20-acre tracts, with water piped to each, at MENTONE, from $200 to $300 per acre. Only 10 per cent. cash down required and balance in six years, at 8 per cent. Interest. This is an excellent opportunity for business men to get an orange, lemon or olive orchard without taking much capital out of their business. If the land is planted to good trees and properly cared for, the fruits will pay for the land and the expense of cultivating in less than six years.

11½ acres, with 2-story house and 5 acres in choice oranges, only a few rods from the Cration station on the Santa Fe R. R. Pure spring water under pressure at the house. Town Property.

2 blocks at MENTONE containing 8 or 9 acres in choice oranges: pressure water, and the most beautiful residence site in the town, only one block from the Hotel Mentone. Price for both, $4000; only half cash, balance in three years.

3 blocks at Mentone, beautiful location, $1000 each; only $100 cash, balance four years at 8 per cent.

11,000 acres of Pine Timber Lands—the only choice body of timber suitable for lumber in Southern California; within 30 miles of market for an unlimited quantity of lumber at $23 for common and $34 for clear per thousand feet.

For Exchange.

10 acres of choice orange land for a good lot on Ocean avenue. Santa Monica, or house and lot on same avenue.

The best matched, best broke, and best looking pair of four-pear-old horses in the city, for exchange for common lumber and shigles, to be delivered on cars at Mentone.

To Exchange for Furniture.

5 acres unimproved, with water piped to the corner; choicest land in the market, surrounded by orange groves and four acres in oranges, with olive trees on two sides; pressure water. Price of both, 85300, will exchange for hotel furniture and carpets. Must be direct-class.

The Passenger Rate Demoralization Up North.

Women Travelers and Their Penchant for Smoking Cars.

Slow Progress of the Los Angeles and Pacific Scheme.

The Land of the "Flying Dude"-Standard Code of Rules - General, Local and Personal Mention.

It is understood that the reorganization scheme of the Los Angeles and Pa-cific road is making some headway. The attorney for the capitalists who are back of the scheme was here from San Francisco yesterday, in conference with Judge Lamme, counsel for the creditors. All the people concerned in this deal refuse to divulge the identity of the capitalists who are prépared to invest good money in reconstructing the unfortunate road, but it is stated on authority that all the guesses thus far made on the personnel of the syndicate are exceedingly wild.

A PRECAUTIONARY WARNING. The equipment of the Los Angeles Terminal road is the newest on this Coast and the coaches possess a number of features which experience has shown to be desirable, and not generally possessed by the older cars. One little idea that is good is the lettering of the words "smoking car" upon the steps of the car which is reserved for the to-accounting sex, the inscription being bacco-using sex, the inscription being so prominent that no one with any eyesight can go into the car by mistake. Trainmen have noticed the tendency of female passengers to persist in climbing into the smoking car, only to be driven aft by some mamber of the crop driven aft by some member of the crew. Now the women generally do not prefer to ride in the smoking car, but some strange fatality seems to lead them to scramble for seats in that section of the train. Now if they climb over the yellow-painted words on the steps of the Terminal's smoking car their mistake will be wholly their own fault.

SCRAP HEAP. General Manager Wade returned from his Colorado trip yesterday.

Preparations are being made for electrizing the Main street horse-car C. E. Kibbe, agent for the Missouri Pacific lines in this city, has returned from San-Francisco. He confirms the truth of rumors of changes in his office, and says he will resign on the 1st proximo. proximo.

The standard code of train rules is now in use on 109 roads, operating 75.989 miles, and seventeen more roads, with 6947 miles, will soon adopt it. This shows encouraging progress toward uniformity in rules and signals for operating trains, though it might be added that not a few roads use modifications and additions of their own which they consider improvements on the standard code, but which in most cases might be omitted without detriment.

On a good many roads out of Eastern cities special club cars are provided, and are paid for by well-to-do business men who want a sofa chair insured, a chance to play chess or read undisturbed. There is an entire train of this turbed. There is an entire train of this sort running out of Boston, covering fifty miles without a stop. It is named the "Flying Dude," given in derision of the exclusiveness exhibited by its patrons. pleted-General Notes.

The raising of the Buena Vista street bridge has been accomplished and much sooner than was at first expected. The large blocks of granite which are to serve as supports for the iron work are all in position and the workmen were yesterday tearing down their scaffolding. The city has yet to fill in the approaches at the west end of the bridge, which is otherwise ready for public use. The Santa Fé people expect to at once begin on their bridge, the piers of which are to be raised sufficiently to afford a free passage for water and drift during prospective winter floods.

Twelve Pages What Brazil is Fighting About.

The commercial and social relations between the United States and Brazil are so slight, and there is so little in common between the two peoples in lan guage and customs, that we find it very hard to understand the inner workings of political matters in the newest of South American republics. The sympathies of our people have not been enlisted thus far for either side of the con troversy now in progress. Only, it may be said in a general way, that we are opposed to a subversion of a republican form of government by a dictator on the one hand, and we are opposed to rebellion on the other. In this country we have a quiet, civil revolution every four years which involves no bloodshed

but keeps the Government pretty well in touch with the people.

considerably as to the real cause of the civil war now raging.

For nearly four centuries the civil government of Brazil has been at the mercy of monks and friars, its women being taught little more than embroidery and how to read their prayer-books.

and its men nothing which would advance material or technical knowledge.

The customs of the country and the dress and habits of the people are reported yet to be what they were 100 years ago. Eighty-four persons out of every 100 are illiterate, and the lower classes are terribly superstitious,

the country being full of Italian priest who were imported in the time of the late Emperor. For some years the government has been trying to pass a compulsory education act, but without any hopes of success till the republic was established in 1889. Since then Protestants have been made eligible for election to the Legislature and the practice of all dissenting forms of religion were also rendered open and le-religious temples. The instruction in the public schools was confined chiefly to moral and religious subjects, and the empire has fallen into such an atmosphere of ecclesiasticism that the principal streets of the Brazilian capital were named after St. John the Baptist and St. John the Evangelist. The republic changed all this, and the present revolt in these provinces is intended to change miles of territory, or an area nearly equal to the whole of Europe. It is divided into twenty-one states or prov

YESTERDAY'S storm in the East seems to have rivaled the great blizzard of 1888. Everything in its path felt its fury, and even the White House did not escape a shaking up and considerable damage. While reports this morning tell of large property losses it is g ratifying that only a few of the dispatches bring tidings of death and mutilation.

THE struggle among various aspiring cities for the honor of entertaining the next National Republican Convention has been fought out, and Minneapolis, seemingly a dark horse in the contest, Pacific Coasters will feel regret that San Francisco did not secure the prize, but all will agree that the convention will be well taken care the leading city of the great Northwest.

YESTERDAY we ventured the opinion that Senator Stanford's strikers had had a good deal to do with manipulating the Alliance convention at Indianapolis. In an entirely incidental way it develops that H. H. Boyce, the unspeakable fakir, is in Indianapolis. Thus we may put two and two together and the sur-mise is confirmed. Boyce is the hornyhandy son of spoil who, with Stanford's money in his pocket, has been working the Alliance racket in Southern Cali fornia for nearly a year past.

A very lucid and entertaining article on the artificial production of rain, prepared for THE TIMES by Prof. Thomas N. Conrad, M. Sc., ex-president of the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, now a resident of Washington, Prof. Conrad gives a brief history of the invention and discovery, and shows that the recent Government experiments in Texas, which proved so suc cessful, are in pursuance of a patent issued to Gen. Ruggles in 1880.

ANOTHER terrible tornado along the Atlantic Coast is reported in our dis patches. It struck Washington, D.C., and did considerable damage, though exactly how much cannot be stated. owing to the demoralization of the telegraph wires. A terrific storm also swept over Pittsburgh. This is the storm predicted by Foster in his fore cast published in this paper on the 11th He said: "The next [storm] will be due to leave the Pacific Coast about the 17th, cross the central valleys from 18th to 20th, and reach the Atlantic Coast about the 21st. November has no light storms on its roll of weather disturbances this year, and this one will affect the whole continent, its center running further south than the average for the past month," The storm struck the Atlantic Coast two days later than predicted.

THE chairman of the Democratic State Committee has sued the chairman of the Republican State Committee in a San Francisco court to recover $1000, the amount offered by the latter during the recent State campaign for proof that the "Old Pard" letter was written by H. H. Markham. Why such an action is sprung at this late day is one of the puzzles of politics. Why was not the suit commenced during the campaign, when the subject was fresh in the mind of everybody and when, if the charges were proven, it might have had some effect on the result? The action of the Democratic chairman brings a suggestion of a dog returning to his disgorged meals. . . The truth is, all the row and rant about that "Old disgorged meals. The members of the club were seated in a double half circle, the ladles in tasteful evening dresses of delicate shades, and all with their stringed instruments in hand. A trio of banjos and guitars stacked on either side the stage were suggestive decorations. Every number of the programme was warmly, applauded, though the club wisely declined to respond to recalls, acknowledging the complimentary applause only by a momentary reappearance. The Euterpean Galop, arranged by C. S. Delano, the director of the club, and dedicated to the quartette of that name, was specially well received.

Miss Katherine Kimball was the vocalist of the evening and sang with all her accustomed power and sweetness.

By way of variation from the otherwise strictly musical programme, G. A. Hough gave a himorous recitation and was persuaded to yield to the importunate demand for an encore, responding with a selection that kept the audience in a tumult of laughter. NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—[By the Asso ciated Press.] The storm of today which has been so remarkable in its varied characteristics and far-reaching in the area of its sweep, will be re corded especially in the log-books of telegraph and telephone companies as having equaled, if not excelled, the pa-ralysis wrought in the great blizzard of 1888. From numerous points come re ports of damage, destruction and death and not until the cessation of the war ring elements permits the restoration of telegraphic communication with points at present inaccessible will the full extent of the destruction be known. Buildings Demolished—Telegraph Wires Down—Many Persons Injured. PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23 .- By the Assoclated Press.] A storm of great violence swept over this city this morning, doing great damage and injuring several persons, one, it is thought, fatally. From all parts of Pittsburgh and All gheny come reports of damage by the Houses were blown down or unroofed, trees and signs broken down, and telegraph poles torn up and wires broken.

In the West End a building in the course of erection was blown down crushing a small dwelling adjoining The occupants all escaped except Mrs Peebles, who was preparing dinner in the kitchen. She was probably fatally injured. Numerous accidents from fallinjured. Numerous accidents from falling signs and flying bricks occurred, but as far as reported they are not of a serious nature. Telephone and telegraph wires were prostrated all over the city, and communication out. the city, and communication cut off from all points for three hours. The streets were flooded by the heavy rain. It is feared that great damage will yet result to the coal fields on the river. On account of the crippled condition of telegraph service news from the storm is meager. It is known, however, that it was severe at all points east and west, and a great deal of damage was done, particularly along the railroads. Great damage is reported along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad west of Connellsville.

At New Brighton, Pa., great damage was done by falling trees, chimneys, etc., and crossed electric wires set fire several houses. At Butler, Pa., several frame buildings were completely demolished. The oc-cupants were buried in the ruins, but Joseph Manny, Jr., was the only one seriously injured.

GOV. HOVEY DEAD.

His Career as a Soldier, Diplomat and Statesman.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 28.—[By the As-sociated Press.] Gen. Alvin P. Hovey, Governor of Indiana, died this morning at 12:20 o'clock. He died of heart failure. About three weeks ago Gov. Hovey started on a pleasure trip through the West and Mexico. When the trip was about half completed the Governor was taken suddenly ill and had to return home.

Gov. Hovey was born in Posey county near Mount Vernon, Ind., in 1821. He served one term in Congress and was elected Governor in 1886. Gov. Hovey was twice married. His first wife died in 1862. His second wife was a daugh-ter of the late Caleb Smith, Secretary of the Interior under President Lincoln and she died in 1865, two weeks after marriage, in New York, while en route to Peru, to which country Gen. Hovey had been appointed minister. When the war broke out he entered as colonel of the Twenty-fourth Indiana. He was commissioned brigadier-general for gallantry at Shiloh, and he won his major generalship at Champion Hills. At the close of the war he was military governor of Indiana; and upon him devolved the responsibility for the celebrated treason trials in which Millians brated treason trials in which Millia gan, Bowles and Humphrey were con-victed, the latter to be pardoned by President Lincoln. A Great Water Famine Prevailing in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Compelled to Put Out a Fire by Tearing Down Buildings on Each Side of a Burning

New York, Nov. 23.—[By the Associated Press.] As a result of the big break in the conduit in East New York Saturday afternoon, by which four men were killed, Brooklyn is on the verge of a water famine. There is scarcely water lamine. There is scalely water enough in the Ridgewood reservoir to last, even with the most care, over twelve or fifteen hours. The situation will be serious by this afternoon unless something is done before then to remedy it. Heroic meas T :s have been adopted to make the present supply of water last as long as possible or until water last as long as possible or until relief comes, and a number of great industries will be at a standstill for at least one day. All factories, using the city's water were ordered to shut down so as to save water for the necessities of the general public. The great engine which runs the cable on the Brooklyn bridge has been stopped, and as many people as possible are being shoved across the bridge by locomotives. All fires under the boilers at the Brooklyn navy yard have been drawn and work entirely suspended. The water has been shut off from boilers in all batches of the water has been shut off from boilers in all batches and office buildings and ers in all hotels and office buildings, and ers in all hotels and office buildings, and as a consequence not an elevator in the whole city was running this morning. Work in every factory where steam is depended on for motive power has been suspended, and the number of those thrown out of employment runs far above 50,000. It is hoped repairs can be completed by tonight, but well-informed persons say the work cannot be finished before tomorrow noon at the earliest. earliest.

YOKOHAMA (Japan,) Nov. 9, via San Francisco, Nov. 23.-[By the Asso Press.] A severe and prolonged shock of earthquake occurred October 29, a few minutes before 7 o'clock in the morning. It was the most severe experienced since the terrible catastrophe of 1855, and must be ranked as a na tional calamity. The greatest damage to buildings and loss of life occurred in the prefectures of Achii and Gifu, in which nearly 40,000 people were killed outright and 4000 severely wounded. In those two prefectures 42,000 houses were totally destroyed. The number of provinces throughout which the dis turbances were strongly felt was thirty one. The center seems to have been in Mine and Owari, but even as far south as Higo and Rikushu the disturbance was sensibly felt. The destruction of 40,000 houses means that 200,000 people have been rendered homeless. Up to November 5 earthquakes still continued to be felt, but the intervals between them generally increased and the intensity of the shocks diminished. From the commencement of the dis turbance up to that date it is estimated that there were 6600 shocks, or more

The town of Gifu, on the Tokaido railway, with a population of 15,000, was almost entirely destroyed. Thirty-five hundred out of a total of 4400 houses in the town were overthrown or burned. Seven hundred and forty-seven people were killed.

These towns were all in the three provinces of Ezazi, Mino and Owari, and represent a total of 3400 persons killed and nearly 43,000 houses totally destroyed. Communication has not been opened up to all outlying points, but it is now known that the total deaths will exceed 5000.

A RAILWAY IN TROUBLE.

A Federal Grand Jury After Missouri Pacific With a Sharp Stick. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—[By the Associ-ated Press.] United States Marshal Hitchcock today received subpomas from the United States District Cour at Omaha for J. W. Midgley, J. N. Fai-thorne, B. L. Carmon and D. C. Bridges to appear before the federal grand jury at Omaha, November 80. Midgley is at Omaha, November 80. Midgley is directed to bring the records of weight of stone shipped by Hugh Murphy from Lyon, Colo., to Omaha; all reports, records of billing, documents and papers pertaining to shipments from South, Omaha and Nebraska City, showing of what the shipments consisted. Midgley is also required to produce all figures of tariffs in effect covering shipments from those points on the Missouri Pacific road from January 1, 4890, to the 15th of the present month; also any further records that apply more, especially to the same subject and all way-bills of certain dates.

the same subject and all way-bills of certain dates.

From this it would appear that the Omaha grand jury is after the Missouri Pacific with a sharp stick. It is asserted that the charges preferred against that road are sweeping, and there is certainly an indication of this in the fact that the subpeona calls for records covering twenty-three months of the company's business.

THE REVENUE MARINE.

What Its Little Vessels Accomplished in a Year.

Over 1000 Violators of the Law Over saving Service - Bigger .

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.-[By the Asso ciated Press.] Capt. Shepard, Chief of the Revenue Marine Division, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury says that the thirty-six vessels in commission during the year cruised 301,000 miles and boarded 26, 962 vessels, of which 1042 were found violating the law. The fines incurred were $836,000. One hundred and twenty-three distressed vessels were assisted, their values, with cargoes, aggregating $2,900,000. The revent cutters furthermore rendered material service to the life-saving service during the year and rescued from drowning twenty-six persons. Capt. Shepard says:

During the past year the work of the service embraced operations of more than ordinary importance in several directions, many of which dealt with issues of an international nature requiring nicety of judgment. All such duty was special in character and distinct from the routine of service, and the prompt and efficient manner in which it was performed reflects highly to the credit of both officers and crews.

Capt. Shepard details the work of the various cutters of particular interest during the year, especially those serving in Bering Sea. He recommends that the proclamation prohibiting the sale to natives of Alaska of breech-loading arms and fixed ammunition be rescinded, as the very lives of those people depend on the success they meet in hunting, and their present unreliable weapons are becoming of little use, seals and walrus having become not only very shy, but searce. Furthermore, the proclamation only enhances unreliable weapons are becoming of little use, seals and wairus having become not only very shy, but scarce. Furthermore, the proclamation only enhances the value of breech-loaders in the hands of unscrupulous traders: Capt. Shepard says:

A number of new vessels are urgently needed for the proper maintenance of the service. The rapidly increasing commerce in the great lakes, on the Pacific Coast and Puget Sound; the large number of Chinese unlawfully landing, and the enormous quantities of oplum smuggled into the United States from contiguous foreign territory; the additional services demanded of the revenue cutter fleet in protecting Government interests in Alaska, all demand new and more efficient steamers. The vessels at present on duty when first put into commission filled the requirements, but are now entirely too small to meet the enlarged duties of the service. The policy of making extensive repairs on old vessels is a mistaken one.

Capt. Shepard further says:

Capt. Shepard further says:

Capt. Shepard further says:
There is urgent and immediate need for two able cruising steamers for the Pacific Coast and two for the great lakes. The cutters now on the Pacific Coast are not adapted to the arduous work recently assigned them in Bering Sea. Stronger and abler vessels are needed to replace them.
Of the two vessels required on the Pacific Coast one is needed on Puget Sound and one for San Francisco and the California coast. They would be available for annual cruises in Bering Sea and do away with the cruises in Bering Sea and do away with the necessity of calling for support from cruising vessels of the navy. It would further become practicable on receiving two new vessels for the Pacific Coast to supply the port of San Diego and extreme southern coast of California with one of the present steamers. This would insure a more sumcient patrol of the California coast. There is a further need at San Francisco of a new boarding steamer, the present one being too small for efficient performance of the work assigned her.

There is also urgent need for some form of relief of the service. Owing to its peculiar status, its officers and men have been refused the benefits of retirement, longevity and pensions. The present condition of the service is little short of stagnation. Owing to the grades being blocked by so many old officers, promotion comes only through death or occasional resignation. The attending stagnation has a demoralizing effect on the active personnel of the service and tends not only to make the officers dissatisfied with their lot, but the service itself unattractive. Furthermore, the duty performed by officers of the revenue marine is the most arduous perhaps of any service affoat under the Government.

The vessel was bound from Coma. to San Francisco with 5000 tons of coal on board. At daybreak divers were sent down to investigate and reported that thirty feet had been torn away and the water poured through the hole and filled the hold in spite of the pumps. A large force of long-shoremen were at once put to work throwing the cargo into the sea, and at noon many tons were discharged over the side. The ship then settled and rolled to port, burying herself under the water. The bow alone remained above the water. Many workmen had narrow escapes from being drowned. The attempt to lighten the ship was abandoned.

THE COURTS.

Nice Legal Point Arising Under the Homestead Law.

A Mortgage Not Valid Unless Signed by the Wife.

Supreme Court Decision Received in This City for Filing.

Young Amos Abbott on Trial for Bur -General Court Notes

Judge Van Dyke rendered a decision of considerable importance yesterday in the case of C. A. Mentry against Theodore S. Shaw and his wife. a suit involving a very nice question arising from the homestead law, which has not een presented here before, The opinion of the Court upon the matter is as ion of the Court upon the matter is as follows:

It is objected on the part of the defendant, Mrs. Mary A. Shaw, that the mortgage in suit is not valid to bind the property covered by it inasmuch as at the time of the execution of the mortgage there was a homestead existing on the same, and the mortgage was not executed and acknowledged by her, at that time the wife of the defendant, Theodore S. Shaw. The declaration of homestead was made by Theodore S. Shaw before his marriage with the defendant, Mary A. Shaw, but at the time he had his mother residing with him on the property selected, and on which the declaration of homestead in question was filed. The homestead therefore fails under subdivision 3 of section 1261 of the Civil Code.

The evidence shows that the mother continued to reside with Shaw from the time of the declaration of the homestead until his marriage, but it is contended on the part of the plaintiff that the homestead right thus acquired by Shaw before his marriage did not inure to the benefit of his wife after marriage, and therefore it is not necessary for her to sign the mortgage, but that the husband alone could by executing the mortgage work an abandonment of the homestead.

In the case of the Santa Cruz Bank against Cooper, 56 Cal., 339, the defendant, Frank Cooper, a widower, filed a declaration of homestead, there being at the time living with him his sister-in-law and his two minor children. As the statute then stood tion of homestead, there being at the time living with him his sister-in-law and his two minor children. As the statute then stood no unmarried person could select or hold a homestead unlesse he had the care and maintenance of a minor child or of a minor brother or sister, or the minor child of a deceased brother or sister, or a father or mother, or of a grandfather or grand-mother, or of an unmarried sister then residing on the homestead property with such mother, or of an unmarried sister then residing on the homestead property with such person. On the 1st of March, 1870, both of the minor chitdren of Cooper were of age, and no others of the class mentioned were living with him. He married the other defendant in the case, Louisa S. Cooper, in June, 1872, and in August, 1873, executed the mottage then before the court. The Supreme Court in that case held that when the minor children arrived at a majority-and the defendere arrived at a majority-and the defendbefore the court. The Supreme Court in that case held that when the minor children arrived at a majority and the defendant Cooper not having the care and maintenance of any of the other persons named in the statute, it followed he ceased to hold the homestead which he was allowed to acquire only because he had the care and maintenance of his minor child. The homestead right that attached to the premises by virtue of the declaration filed by Frank Cooper on the 24th of May, 1867, having ceased to exist long prior to his marriage to his present wife, and there having been no declaration of homestead filed by either after marriage, it results that the joinder of the wife in the conveyance to the plaintiff was not necessary, the property being the separate property of the husband." After the homestead is created in the manner prescribed by the code, it continues until abandoned as therein provided, and does not terminate when a child arrives at age ora mother dies. The homestead right does not terminate as it did under the law as it stood in 1862, under which the case of the Santa Cruz Bank against Cooper was decided; consequently in Roth vs. Insley, 86 Cal., 134, it is held that a homestead set apart as in that case, under section 1261 of the Civil Code, by a son with whom his 86 Cal., 134, it is held that a homestead set apart as in that case, under section 1261 of the Civil Code, by a son with whom his mother resides, does not cease to be exempt from execution for a debt of the son, because he has ceased to be the head of a family owing to the death of his mother. The premises in question were therefore a homestead at the time of Shaw's marriage to Mrs. Shaw, and had not been abandoned at the time of the execution of the mortage in this suit.

SECTION 1242 of the Civil Code says:
The homestead of a married person cannot be conveyed or encumbered unless the instrument by which it is conveyed or encumbered is executed and acknowledged by both husband and wife." There can be but one meaning to the language used by by both husband and wife." There can be but one meaning to the language used by the Supreme Court in the case of Santa Crus Bank against Cooper, and that is, if the bomestead created by Frank Cooper before his marriage to his then wife had not ceased to exist, that the conveyance would have been invalid unless the wife had joined in the execution of the same according to the code. It therefore follows in ing to the code. It therefore follows in this case that the mortgage on the property which at the time was the homestead of a married person not having been executed and acknowledged by both, husband and wife is invalid. Findings and judgment must go for the defendant, Nrs. Mary A. Shaw.

SUPREME COURT, DECISION.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Mrs. L. F. Shirley (respondent) vs. Kate Shirley and H. M. Kutchin (appellants.) affirming the judgment and order of the court below, was received from headquarters yesterday for filing in this city. This was an action in in this city. This was an action in ejectment brought by plaintiff against the widow of her son, Frank B. Shirley, deceased, and her tenant, H. M. Kutchin. An answer and cross-complaint were filed by the defendants, alleging a parol gift of the premises in controversy by plaintiff to her son, who left by will all his property to his wife. The contentions raised were submitted to a jury, upon special issues, all of a jury, upon special issues, all of issues, all of ants. The trial court, however, refused to accept this advisory verdict, and rendered a decision upon the issues, directly contrary thereto, and judgment was entered accordingly, whereupon an appeal was taken.

AN INTERESTING LEGAL QUESTION

morning, the evidence being insufficient appeal was taken.

AN INTERESTING LEGAL QUESTION.

And REVERESTING LEGAL QUESTION.

The case appealed by Hop Lee, a land development of money paid on a contract of purchase of real westle, granting the defendant's motion for a non-suit, and ordering that he take nothing by his cross-complaint, but have judgment for his costs only.

The original parties to the contract were Mrs. M. W. Robinson (covenantor), and Boynton, trustee (covenantee).

After the contract was made Mrs. Robinson conveyed her interest in the land to defendant, and Boynton, the trustee (covenantee).

After the contract was made Mrs. Robinson conveyed her interest in the land to defendant and Boynton, the trustee (covenantee).

After the contract was made Mrs. Robinson conveyed her interest in the land to defendant and Boynton, the trustee (covenantee).

After the contract was made Mrs. Robinson conveyed her interest in the land to the plaintiff the assignee of the trustee, assigned his interest in the contract to plaintiff as collateral security for a debt. Plaintiff, the assignee of the trustee, seeks to recover the purchase money, not only which was paid to the grantor, but that which was subsequently paid to the grantee, for the reason that there was a breach of the contract to convey, which is set up as a failure of consideration. This failure consists in the fact that the description in the contract to colven, which is set up as a failure of consideration. This failure consists in the fact that the description in the contract to colven, which is set up as a failure of consideration. This failure consists in the fact that the description in the contract to colven, which is set up as a failure of consideration. not plaintiff was entitled to recover on his own showing.

A trustee can only convey the legal title when he acts in strict pursuance of the express purposes of the trust. In this case it does not ap-pear clearly for whom Beynton was trustee, nor whether he was by the trust clothed with any authority beyond trustee, nor whether he was by the trust clothed with any authority beyond that of a naked trustee. It seems that he assigned the contract as security for a debt; but it nowhere appears, that he was clothed with any such power.

Upon the other hand, it is difficult to see how defendant can recover from plainting the possession of the premises, or a judgment for the accrued rents and profits. Boynton, the trustee, recovered possession from Mrs. Robinson when the contract was made. The right of possession followed the right of purchase.

Defendant has not shown himself entitled to the possession of the premises, or he had not foreclosed under the contract for breach. He had made no tender of a deed to any one who appeared to be in deed to any one who appeared to be in a position to accept an absolute title."

UNITED STATES GRAND JURORS. UNITED STATES GAND JURGES.

In the United States District Court yesterday morning the Marshal made his return upon the venire recently issued by Judge Ross for jurges to serve upon the United States grand jury during the present term, and thirty-nine persons responded to their names. Of this number, however, eighteen were excused by the Court for various reasons upon examination as to their qualificacused by the Court for various reasons upon examination as to their qualifications. Chicago, giving substantially the same account of Boyce's antics in connection with the Chamber of Commerce's exhibit at Indianapolis as was published in The Times yesterday morning, and the communication will probably be brought before the directors of the next meeting. Yesterday a letter was received at The Times office from Indianapolis, saying that "Boyce gave right up" when Maj. Truman's agent showed him his authority from that gentleman, and immediately quieted down. The exhibit, it is stated, did good work, and substantial results will doubtless be realized from the move.

Police Court yesterday and discharged, as Mrs. Buckley failed to make out a case against her lord and master. This is the usual outcome of such cases, and the magistrates have about come to the opinion that it is a waste of time to issue complaints of this character unless the loving couple are separated until the trial takes place.

AN IMMENSE METEOR.

A Supposed Earthquake Caused by an Aereal Visitor.

RAYMONDVILLE (Mo.,) Nov. 18.—[Correspondence.] About the first of the present month the people of this part of Texas county experienced what they supposed to be a severe earthquake shock. Windows and crockery were broken, and the tremor was accom-panied by two loud reports and a heavy rumbling noise like thunder. It after-ward developed that the people living in the neighborhood of Licking not only saw and felt the phenomenon but saw the saw and felt the phenomenon but saw the cause of it in the shape of an immense meteor which passed over that town. The meteor passed over to the northeast of the town and disappeared behind the hills, after which the reports and shock came. The whole story was proven true last Saturday by William Stone, a farmer, bringing into Licking a hugh meteorite which he says fell in the field back of his house on the night in question.

BEET SUGAR FACTORY.

Another Meeting at the Rodeo de las Aguas Rancho Yesterday. The farmers of the Cahuenga and Ballona, who intend to form a cooperative beet sugar factory, held another meeting at the Rodeo de las Aguas rancho yesterday afternoon.

President Mall called the meeting to order at 2 o'clock, and, after several encouraging speeches had been made, subscriptions were called for, when the following were added to the list:

Louis Stephan, 5 acres: Dr. Nadeau, 50 acres; W. Williams, 25 acres; J. Zoroquino, 10 acres; S. Cripe, 25 acres; John McLaughlin, 5 acres; Ivar Weid, 10 acres; F. B. Alderson, 2 acres; Mrs. Emilia Schimmel, 5 acres; making a total of 1844 acres. tal of 1644 acres.

tal of 1644 acres.

The balance of the 2000 acres has been guaranteed by those who have already subscribed, and at next Monday's meeting incorporation will be perfected, by-laws will be adopted, articles of incorporation sent to Sacramento, and a board of directors, consistmento, and a board of directors, consist-ing of seven, elected.

The Anaheim cooperative sugar fac-tory scheme will begin to be formulated today. Mr. Capitain goes there today in answer to a request, and will try and organize some of the 20,000 acres which were represented in the demand sent to him.

Reducing His Bill!

T IS a very good thing for one to reduce his bill about this time of the year. It makes you stand well with your creaitors. But it won't do Mr. Gobbler any good, for this is the time when the gobbler is gobbled. This is the time when he pools his issues with the frolicsome mince pie and goes the way of all turkeys. DR. WOH, The Eminent Chinese Physician.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease. Born in China, of influential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservingly renowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the Imperial Hospital, and in America for a long time. His great number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons now prove him to be a remarkable and successful

ARTIFICIAL RAIN. How the Idea Origninated and What It Means.

A Marked Improvement on Earlier Suggestions.

Experiments Successfully Performed

Thing for the Development of Arid Regions Its History.

The earth is man's and the sea is his conquest, but who shall dare to say the air will ever be beyond his conquering grasp, defying and defiant? Before the twentieth century dawns upon usa these and experienced observers will be ping into this cloud realm with trail powers and skilled inventions, great may be the result. Already bursting bomb and the fleet of ex ing and exploring balloons are store ing and exploring balloons are storaged the cloudless heavens and demanding refreshing rains for the parched earth. The soaring kite has made another ascent, and has brought more than the electric spark to the hand of a second Franklin. Scientists may not be able to understand the mystery. Their philosophy may not be able to account for the revolution. The surprise may render them breathless for a season; but before long the ocular demonstration beyond successful contradiction will find satisfactory explanation, and Ruggles, the philosopher of the air, will take a position with Maury, the philosopher of the sea.

This precipitation of rainfall by artificial means marks an evolution. That it is an accomplished fact admits no lenger of a doubt. It has been done, time and again, in the presence of intelligent spectators by scientific experimenters and can be repeated at will. The expedition sent to the arid plains of Texas by the Department of Agriculture to test the practicability of the "Ruggles Patent for the Precipitation of Rainfalls," has demonstrated beyond all reasonable doubt its feasibility and practicability. Under the severest tests the patent has been vindicated, and the wisdom of Congress in appropriating $9000 to be expended in deand the wisdom of Congress in appropriating $9000 to be expended in developing the Ruggles method has been demonstrated. Time and again was the experiment repeated and time and again did it prove such the cloud-realm and exploding them asked for an estimate of the cost of an experiment or a series of experiments, it was found to be too expensive for practical purposes.

In 1880 Gen. Daniel Ruggles of Virginia petitioned Congress for an appropriation to be expended in developing his system of producing rainfall. Gen. Ruggles graduated at West Point in 1868, was commissioned by Gen. Andrew Jackson. served through three wars, was twice breveted for gallant and meritorious conduct during the Mexican war, and at the close of the late civil war was a general in the Confederate army. During his eventful life he had contributed many papers on scientific subjects, which were published in the leading journals of the day. Whilst stationed on the Rio Grande, as a federal officer, he became interested in the subject of irrigation, as he had purchased a 800.000 acre tract of arid land, and began to study the problem of its redemption. The result of this study was the enunciation of his theory embodied in his memorial to Congress, dated Austin, Texas, February, 1879. His plan was unlike either of his predecessors. Instead of heavy cannonading on the ground he proposed to transfer the cannonading to the cloud-realm, which he conceived to be not only more philosophical and be not only more philosophical and scientific, but less expensive and more practicable. In his memorial to Congress he claimed the "absolute practicability of sending torpedoes and carticability of sending to the control of the con

METHOD OF PRECIPITATING RAINFALLS.

This diagram is a reproduction of one accompanying the specification of Daniel Ruggles's patent dated July 18, 1880. The inventor explains that B represents a balloon carrying dynamite torpedoes at a high elevation: Windicates a wire connecting the balloon with the reel B upon the ground, and the battery marked B'. cessful. From the cloudless sky the experimenters brought the refreshing rains, and where rains have not fallen for months. Prof. Newcomb may sit in his laboratory, unable to account for the astonishing fact, and yet the rains fall (as asserted by Gen. Ruggles in his petition to Congress) and upon the "Staked Plains" of Texas in response to the demands and methods of the "Dyrenforth expedition." "Slapping of hands" may not condense the vapor of a room, or produce a cloud in Simon's laboratory, and yet vapors, and clouds, and rainfalls have resulted from artificial causes and scientific methods. "Steam from a kettle may rains fall (as asserted by Gen. Ruggles in his petition to Congress) and upon the "Staked Plains" of Texas in response to the demands and methods of the "Dyrenforth expedition." "Slapping of hands" may not condense the vapor of a room, or produce a cloud in Simon's laboratory, and yet vapors, and clouds, and rainfalls have resulted from artificial causes and scientific methods. "Steam from a kettle may not be condensed into drops by concussion resulting from the slapping of hands," as stated by Prof. Newcomb, and yet 198 rains followed 198 battles, according to reliable authority, and the concussions of cannonading are asserted to be the causes. Because a and the concussions of cannonading are asserted to be the causes. Because a learned professor cannot account for an existing fact, and an established result, consistent with his preconceived notions of philosophy, is no argument sufficient to invalidate the statement of scientific observers and practical experimenters. The fact is that rainfalls follow violent concussions in the cloud realm. How they do, or why it is done, are questions outside of the fact that they do. If Prof. Newcomb prefers to believe that rainfalls follow great battles "because the smoke from the burning powder rises into the clouds and forms nuclei for the agglomeration into drops and not by mere explosions:" it is all right. The fact is what we maintain and not how it is done, nor why it is done. If the Department of Agriculture will only prove to the people of this country that the arid sections can be irrigated by precipitating rainfalls by artificial means, at reasonable expense, it will not concern us greatly whether it is done according to the philosophy of Prof. Newcomb or any other scientist. That the department has succeeded is believed by thousands, and the proof of such a belief is given when thousands of dollars are given by individuals for repetitions of the experiment, as has been done in Texas.

The history of "rain precipitation by artificial means" is an interesting one. While for years the opinion had prevailed that rainfall could be produced by artificial methods, such as heavy cannonading, tremendous fires, and other agencies, it was not until 1887 that a man of science proposed a plan, the "heating of upward currents of air, and thus precipitating moisture." His plan was indorsed by the Australian government, but was found to be too expensive for practicable purposes and was abandoned. It was known as Prof. Espy's plan.

In 1870 Mr. Edward Powers of Wisconsin published evaluation and the stating one will be sook entitled "War" asserted to be the causes. Because learned professor cannot account for an existing fact, and an established result.

Espy's plan.
In 1870 Mr. Edward Powers of Wisconsin published a book entitled "War and Weather," in which he collected interesting statistics showing the effects guard against pestilence and famine and to prevent or alleviate them when prevailing. That he had devised a method for resisting cyclones, tornadoes and water-spouts by dispersing them." Upon invitation he met the Committee on Agriculture of the Senate, and elaborated his method, for the information of the committee. In ate, and elaborated his method, for the information of the committee. In 1890 Senator Farwell, having conceived the same idea, without knowledge of the invention and efforts of Gen. Ruggles, induced Congress to make a small appropriation, and in 1891 increased it to $9000, to be expended under the direction of the Department of Agriculture in testing the practicability of the "Rainfall Method." Too much praise cannot be given to the Too much praise cannot be given to the Senator, who, notwithstanding all mockery, persisted in what he believed to be an undertaking of the greatest benefit to the people of his country, and until someghing substantial should be until something substantial should be done the experimenting party was organized, equipped and sent to Texas in August, 1891, under the direction of Ged. Dyrenforth, as special agent of the Department of Agriculture. The partial reports of those in charge of the experiments have been given to the public through the press of the country and have been of the most satisfactory character. The scientists in charge were satisfied beyonnd a doubt, and Gen. Dyrenforth, in charge of the expedition, states that "rain can be produced at will by artificial means." or, pedition, states that "rain can be pro-duced at will by artificial means." or, in other words, "Gen. Ruggles's method is a successful invention."

If this be true the practical results of it will mark an evolution in the world it will mark an evolution in the world of science.

The history of the future will do justice to the man whose invention was ten years in advance of the most progressing people of the globe, and justice to the man who secured the appropriation through Congress, and justice to the scientific and executive men who, under the direction of the Government, have demonstrated by persistent effort and able management, under many discouragements and great hardships, the practicability of producing "rainfall at will."

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.

Romantic Scene on a Southern Pacific Train.

An Angry Father with a Big Revolver Causes a Sensation.

The Old Man Finally Outwitted by the Fond Lovers, Other's Company - A Peculiar Case with Some Sensational Features.

The trainmen on one of the Southern Pacific overland trains that left for New Orleans last Friday night are considerably worried over the strange an tics of three well-known society people of this city.

There is a woman in the case, as matter of course, and she is the pretty daughter of one of the largest merchants in the city and has been a society belle for several years past.

Her aged father is the second party in the play, and from all accounts he played the part of the outraged parent

The third character is a well-known and popular jeweler, and he took the part of the rascally lover to the admiration of the porters and peanut butch-ration of the porters and peaut outcomers on the train.

As the story goes, father and daughter boarded the train at the Arcade depot. The young lady held a ticket to New Orleans, and as she was shown to her place in the Pullman sleeper by her fond papa, it was plainly to be seen that she was very uneasy about something, and every chance she got she cast her eyes toward the platform, as if looking for some one. The old man was so occupied with the arrangement of her baggage that he did not notice this little by-play, and the train pulled out before he had completed his work.

"I will ride as far as Nandes Junction with you, dear, and by that time I will have made your seat comfortable," heremarked, and even then he did not notice that the girl, whose eyes had not ers on the train.

remarked, and even then he did not notice that the girl, whose eyes had not been taken from the entrance to the waiting-room, was weeping bitter tears. At Nandes, just as the old man was about to leave the train, the girl's face cleared up and a happy smile circled her ruby lips.

The old man's eyes followed her glances to the sidewalk, and his face suddenly turned ten shades paler and a terrible look came in his eyes when terrible look came in his eyes when they rested on the above-mentioned jeweler, who was making a bee-line for the train.

"My God, what does this mean?" hissed the old man, and he started for the platform, and at the same time his right hand greaned the but of a pistol.

hissed the old man, and he started for the platform, and at the same time his right hand grasped the butt of a pistol that was concealed under his coat-tails. The girl noticed the motion and quicker than a flash she grabbed him with one hand and motioned to the jeweler with the other to keep away. The jeweler caught sight of the old man at the same time and instead of jumping on the coach that contained father and daughter he hurried toward the engine and boarded the mail-car at the blind end, or the end nearest the engine, where there is no door connecting with the rest of the train.

The old man noticed him run toward the engine and thought he had boarded the train. He then did all in his power to induce the gul to leave the train, but before he could talk her into leaving her seat the train pulled out with both aboard.

"Well." hissed the old man. "L will."

aboard.
"Well," hissed the old man, "I will stay with you until I am convinced that the scoundrel is not aboard, and if he is on this train I will kill him like a dog." He then began to cry and plead with his daughter to leave the train at the next station, but she decla red that he was wrong and she positively informed him that she would not leave the train until she reached her destination.
"You have insisted on my making this trip and I will not turn back now," and she closed her eyes and settled down in her seat.

platform. The train had gone but a short distance when one of the train men, who had been watching the per-formance with considerable interest, hurried to the front end of the train and climbed over the mail car.

nurried to the front end of the train and climbed over the mall car.

"The coast is clear," he whispered to the dust-covered jeweler. "The old rip left the train at the last station and you can go back to the girl."

The jeweler lost no time in hurrying back to the sleeper, and the meeting between the two young people was most affecting, and brought tears to the eyes of everyone that witnessed it.

From this point on to Banning the conversation was carried on in loving whispers and no one knows what decision they reached regarding their future, but the jeweler left the train at that place and came back to the city the next day. The parting was most affectionate, and it was very evident that they thoroughly understood each other, but what the outcome will be is a mystery, as the old man has evidently made but what the outcome will be is a mys-tery, as the old man has evidently made up his mind that he will separate them even if he has to kill somebody.

THE MAYOR WAS RIGHT.

The McLain Demand Finally Settled-A Funny Scene. A scene occurred in the City Hall yes-erday afternoon after the adjournmen of the City Council that caused considerable amusement. The Council had passed the McLain demand of $295 for the improvement of Temple street, by making a fill oposite the cable power over the vetoes of both the Mayor and Auditor, and ordered the Treasurer to pay the same. The contractor had been waiting for his money for some time, and was on hand to collect it. He evidently did not know what kind of a man he had to deal with, for no sooner did the Mayor learn of the action of the Council than he hurried to the Treasurer's office and instructed him not to pay the demand, as he had arranged to bring injunction proceedings, and when McLain presented his demand he found that he could not get the money. His Honor was then hunted up, and the fun commenced. The Mayor said he had no doubt but what the work had been done, and the man should have his money, but he was part of the city govornment, and as he had not been consulted he did not propose to be ignored. He had stated that the law had been overlooked, and the Council had publicly stated, in effect, that he did not know what he was talkthat he did not know what he was talking about by passing the matter over his head. He did not, propose to be put in this position, and he was willing to let the courts decide which was right. While the discussion was at its height the Council adjourned, and the members came down stairs. There was another talk, during which the entire force of the City Hall congregated around the excited group. Finally the Mayor stated that if the Councilmen would publicly admit that they were wrong in the matter, and that his position was publicly admit that they were wrong in the matter, and that his position was correct, he would withdraw his opposition. This the Councilmen did, and, after an impromptu love feast, in which the two branches of the government metaphorically fell on each other's necks, the demand was paid, and the party broke up with mutual expressions of good will on each side.

BOYLE HEIGHTS ENTERTAINMENT.

The extertaiment to be given next Wednesday evening at Hotel Cummings, for the benefit of the Library Association, is entirely under the auspices of Mr. and Mrs. Cummings, and they have liberally provided, from some of the best talent in the city, a very attractive programme. The association takes no credit unto themselves for this, beyond the fact of having increased the interest in what every community should be proud to possess—a free reading-room and a free library, easy of access, for all who have not the time or money to make frequent trips to the city library.

The young ladies of the State normal . chool are developing their muscle as well as brain. The other day four of well as brain. The other day four of them, Misses Palmer, McLellan, Sayre and Ward, accomplished quiteca feat. Starting at 9 o'clock in the morning, they walked to San Gabriel Mission and back, a'distance of twenty miles, in five and one-halt hours. Could their English cousins do better?

COMPLIMENTARY LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Juana Neal was honored yester-day by a luncheon given at the Woman's Exchange rooms by the Exchange board of directors. The table was exquisitely laid with delicate china and decorated laid with delicate china and decorated with gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums. The following ladies enjoyed the elaborate menu: Mmes. The report of the Board of Public Works, as published in The Times on Saturday last, was read and adopted, with the single exception of the clause with reference to the street anythking. with reference to the street sprinkling which led to a lengthy debate.

THE STREET SPRINKLING CONTRACT

A communication was read from Le Grand Betts, maintaining the position he took before the Board of Public Works on Friday last, and reciting his Works on Friday last, and reciting his bid as follows:

I will sprinkle the entire city or any district above named at $31,50 per mile per month per graded street, and $24 per mile per month for paved streets; or I will sprinkle ninety miles of graded streets at $27,50 and eight and one-half miles of paved streets at $22 per month; or I will sprinkle the entire city for the sum of $32,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments, to employ galvanized iron tanks with necessary equipments.

He maintained that this did not mean alone an aggregate of ninety-eight and alone an aggregate of ninety-eight and one-half miles of streets, but also streets which might be hereafter graded which would be sprinkled on the basis of that

The following minority report was

To the honorable the City Council: In the matter of bids for street sprinkling for the next three years I beg to present a minority report as follows;

ity report as follows;
After careful calculation of the bids of Messrs. Betts and Cross I find the bid of Mr. Betts based on the only available official data obtainable at the time, viz., 109 miles of streets, amounts to $24.63 per mile, and the bid of Mr. Cross, based on ninety miles, amounts to $25.22 per mile, or 59 cents per mile in excess of Mr. Betts' bid. On a cursory glance the total of Mr. Cross' bid. for $27.240 for ninety miles would seem less than $32.000 for the eatire' city, but Mr. Cross claims the same rate per milefor all in excess of ninety miles now graded or that may be graded; while Mr. Betts agrees to sprinkle all new streets that may be graded during the term of three years buring the past three years seventy-three miles have been improved, and under the new bond law and the impetus given to street improvement it were an exceedingly low estimate to say one-third of this improvement will continue during the next three years. This number of miles added to the ninety miles would cost $21.700 for three years. This number of miles added to the ninety miles would cost $21,700 for the three years, quite an item in the city expense and by no means above the chances in favor of the city by accepting the Betts bid. Very respectfully,

D. M. McGarry.

Councilman McGarry then addressed the Council in support of his report;
and he was followed by Councilman Rees, who argued in favor of the Cross bld insigning that the councilman bid, insisting that there was a consider able difference between the two bids, as one was for a specified annual sum, whereas the other was upon the basis of another sum.

Councilman Tufts said that it seemed that the Board of Public Works, to whom the matter had been referred, had been unable to agree upon it after wrestling with it for a week, and therefore moved that it be referred to the Committee of the Whole, and that action be deferred until Friday morning next. The city would lose nothing by the delay, and b that time it was possible that an intelli-gent understanding of the matter might be reached by the Council.

uncilman Nickell vigorously opd any further postponement of m, and announced that he wanted to see this thing settled. He was ready to vote upon it, and was tired of having attorneys for contractors running to his house and worrying him about this matter.

Councilman Tufts sarcastically replied that outside of the Council chamber none had ever approached him on the subject. There was no hurry about the subject. There was an add that it appeared to him that the specifications had been made a mess of, and contractors did not know how to bid intelligently on them. He was therefore in favor of remodeling them.

Councilman Alford was opposed to waiting until Friday next, and suggested that action be postponed until the afternoon session only.

Councilman Rees indorsed this sug-gostion, and Councilman Innes then moved as an amendment that the Coun-cil adjourn at 12 o'clock promptly, and meet in Committee of the Whole at 1 o'clock.

President Bonsall, howeved, remarked that the Council had other business to take up in the afternoon.

Councilman Tufts called for an official statement signed by the City Engineer as to the exact mileage of graded streets in the city, whereupon Councilman McGarry stated that the Street Superintendent had furnished a statement to the. Board of Public Works, over his signature, to the effect that there were 109 miles.

Superintendent had furnished a statement to the. Board of Public Works, over his signature, to the effect that there were 109 miles.
Councilman Rhodes insisted that the Street Superintendent had admitted, when he presented this statement, that it was only an estimate, and not an officialone. He then proceeded to show from the reports of the City Engineer, in 1889 and 1890 that there could not be more than ninety miles at the present time, Councilman McGarry's objections being overruled.

After some further debate Councilman Innes withdrew his amendment and the roll was called on the original motion to refer to the Committee of the Whole, with the following result: Ayes: Innes, McGarry, Summerland, Tufts and Bonsall. Noes.
Alford, Nickell, Rhodes and Rees; 5 to 4.

The following brief message was then received from the Mayor:

To the honorable the Council of the city of Los Angeles: I return the contract with Frank Chenoweth for grading Central avenue unsigned, because it provides for the payment for the grading of this street out of the general fund and not by the property holders themselves, as all the grading in this city is done. I believe it would be a bad precedent for us to establish, nor isi fair to the property holders who have paid for grading in front of their property to ask them to assist in grading other streets, more especially in front of the property belonging to the estate of Briswaliter, abundantly able to pay for the grading. Let every legal means be resorted to to grade this street before we ask to have it done out of the general fund.

Respectfully, Henry T. Hazahd.

Councilman Nickell thought that it was rather strange that the Mayor would come back on the Council like that. It was the duty of every city to put its approaches in good shape. The following communication from the Board of Education was read:

There is no money in the school fund to pay teachers' salaries for the months of Education will not receive any money until the county apportionment comes in January. The matter having already been acted upon, in accordance with the recom-mendation of the Finance Committee, the communication was filed

Upon motion of Councilman Tufts the quit-claim deed of G. W. King et al. to the St. James Park was accepted. A recess was then taken until 2 p.m.

Afternoon Session

The Council met at 2 o'clock, with President Bonsall presiding and every ward represented.

The matter of the demand of George McLain of $295 for the improvement of Temple street, which was returned by the Mayor with a message vetoing the same, was then taken up, and the same, was then taken up, and Street Superintendent Hutchinson was questioned at some length. Mr. Hutch-inson declined to certify to the work because he was not netified and did, not see the work until after it was finished, and in the course of the debate it came out that Councilman McGarry knew nothing about the work until the matter came before the Council. After a informal talk, in which Councilman Al informal talk, in which Councilman Al-ford stated that the Mayor was trying to make buncombe out of the matter, and a statement by the City Attorney to the effect that the work had been done legally, although there was some informality, the requisition was ap-proved notwithstanding the Mayor's veto, and the demand passed over the Anditor's veto.

TRIPLE RUNAWAY.

Three Vehicles More or Less Damaged-No One Seriously Hurt. A triple runaway took place about 12 o'clock yesterday on Pearl street near Sixth. A horse attached to a Singer sewing machine wagon broke away and ran into a buggy containing a man at the corner of Pearl and Sixth. Both vehicles were capsized by the collision The occupant of the buggy sustained sprained ankle and fractured trousers The accident frightened a horse tached to a buggy belonging to Mrs. Dr. Townsend, which was standing near by in front of a meat-shop, Mrs. Townsend being in the shop at the moment while, the lines were held by a lady compan-ion sitting in the buggy. This buggy was also overturned, making three vehicles upside down upon the scene of action at the same moment. The lady occupant of Mrs. Townsend's buggy was also thrown out, but bravely held fast to the lines and was dragged some thirty feet when she succeede in regaining control of the frightened animal an brought him to a halt. She escaped without injury.

THE POLICE COURTS.

Another Opinion Defining Their Jurisdiction.

The Ruling of Judge Van Dyke in the Goytino Libel Suit.

The Writ of Prohibition Asked for by Defendant Denied.

Unless the Whitney Act is Illegal, the Extends Over all Mis-

In Department Four yesterday Judge Van Dyke rendered his decision upon th application of J. P. Goytino for a writ of prohibition restraining, Police Judge Owens from trying the petitioner on a complaint in an action of libel, insti tuted by Miss Virginie Raskin, denying the petition in accordance with the following opinion:

This is an application for a writ of prohibition directed to the Police Court of Lo

Angeles city to restrain said court from proceeding to try the petitioner herein, J. P. Goytino, on a complaint in an action of libel, on the ground, as alleged, that the said court has no jurisdiction of said action.

nor authority to proceed to trial in said action, nor authority to proceed to trial in said action against said defense is triable only in the Superior Court upon indictment or upon information after preliminary examination. Section 5. article 6, of the constitution, after conferring jurisdiction upon the Superior Court in civil cases confers also jurisdiction upon said court, "in all criminal cases amounting to felony and cases of misdeme anor not otherwise provided for." In 1885 the Legislature passed an act entitled, "An act providing for police courts in cities having thirty thousand and under one bundred thousand inhabitants, and providing for officers thereof." Section dist, of seath act reads: "The judicial power of every city having thirty thousand and under one hundred thousand inhabitants shall be vested in a police court to be held therein by the city justices, or one of them, to be designated by the Mayor, and either of said city justices may hold such court without such designated by the Mayor, and either of said city justices may hold such court without such designation, and it is hereby made the duttes now required of them by law, to hold said police court."

"Sec. 2. The Police Court shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the following public offenses committed in the city.

"First—Petty larceny."

"Second—Assault and battery not charged to have been committed on a public offers of the passed of the passed of the passed of the act of the city in the discharge of official duty with intent to kill.

"The crime of libel is a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment, etc."

The crime of libel is a misdemeanor punishable by fine not exceeding $5000, or imprisonment in the County $500, or imprisonment in the count ture has power to establish inferior courts and to confer upon such courts jurisdiction in cases of misdemeanor, and when such jurisdiction is provided for the jurisdiction in that class of cases is taken away from the Superior Court, for the reason that they become misdemeanors otherwise provided for within the meaning of the Constitution." The Court therefore concludes as follows: "The syldent object and purpose of the Constitution in providing for the jurisdiction of Superior Courts in cases of misdemeanor sithe lower grades was to leave it to the Legislature to provide inferior courts in cities and towns with jurisdiction to try the same, and that such jurisdiction should vest in the Superior Court only until such inferior court should be provided for. The language of the Constitution can bear no other construction; it vests this jurisdiction is the Superior Court only until such inferior court should be provided for. The interior court should be provided for. The language of the Constitution can bear no other construction: it vests this jurisdiction in the Superior Court if not otherwise provided for. Just so soon as the jurisdiction is otherwise provided for the authority of the Superior Court ceases. This has been held in the case of Justices' Courts, "citing exparte Wallingford, 60 Cal. 104; Gafford vs. Bush, 60 Cal. 149. Again: "Taking the several constitutional provisions together they vest in the inferior courts such jurisdiction as may be given them so long as the jurisdiction thus conferred upon them does not infringe upon their does not infringe upon some other court by the Constitution itself. Petitioner's counsel relies upon sec. 9 of art; 1 of the Constitution, the latter part of which is only applicable to this case, and reads as follows: "Indictments found or information laid for publication in the newspapers shall be tried in the county where such newspapers have their publication office, or in the county where the party alleged to be libeled resides at the time of the alleged publication, unless the place of trial shall be changed for good cause." And it is argued from this provision does not relate upon sease and the start of the court having jurisdiction throughout that county having jurisdiction throughout that county. But clearly this provision does not relate being required to be tried in a particular county means it shall be tried in the court having jurisdiction throughout that county. But clearly this provision does not relate to the jurisdiction of any particular court, but was intended to be a limitation as to the place of trial merely. In other words, under the old Constitution the party libeled had it in his power to institute an action against the publisher of the libel in any county in the State wherein the publication might be made—that is, the paper, periodical, or whatever vehicle of libel was used, might be circulated. But now the libel must be prosecuted, as seen, in the county in which the publication office is or in the county where the party libeled resides. A party residing in San Francisco and claiming to be libeled by a newspaper whose publication once is in that city is under this provision not permitted to bring an action in San Diego or Siskiyou and compel the publisher of the paper to follow him to those distant counties in order to defend the action. On the other hand, a party residing in Siskiyou or San Diego who may be libeled by the circulation of a newspaper in the county in which he resides, although such paper may be printed in San Francisco, has a right to bring the action where the publication office is.

It is claimed also that this is a higher

SKELETONS IN A MINE

The Remains of Escaped Prisoners Found.

After Five Years.

Private (Kan.,) Nov. 17.—[Correspondence.] Five years ago an explosion occurred in a shaft of a coal mine at this point, and the portion of the mine affected was abandoned by the owners and the other parts of the property worked. At the time of the explosion three miners were killed, and their bodies recovered. It was known that only three miners were in the shaft, and seven were taken out alive. The explosion was a mystery, for it seemed to occur far away from the point where the men were working. So great was the force of the explosion that the drift was practically ruined, and it was decided that it would be too expensive to again open it. Later, however, the other parts of the mine have become worked down, and it was decided to work the abandoned shaft. Accordingly a shift of men was put to work a week ago for the purpose of clearing ext the fallen load and slate. They progressed finely, but found more than they were looking for in the back part of the drift.

Lying at the end of the drift were three human skeletons, all that was left of three men who had evidently lost their lives at the time of the explosion. The mysterious part of the affair is that no one was missing at the time of the disaster. The miners who worked in the shaft were all accounted for, and no one in the neighborhood was missing. Among the theories which are advanced is one which is plausible. At the time of the accident a search was being made for three men who had escaped jall, and who were last seen near the mine. It is now becleved that instead of getting out of the country the men hid in the shaft, and owners and the other parts of the prop-erty worked. At the time of the ex-

Reved that instead of getting out of the-country the men hid in the shaft, and it was their light which set fire to the gas which caused the explosion.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, Nov. 23, 1891. The butter market is very firm, especially for the best California grades. Supplies are rather light. Receipts from San Luis Oblspo and Saritt Barbara counties have been quite small of late, and it has been necessary to obtain further supplies from San Francisco, where quotations are lower than in this city, in order to meet the demand. Prices for California butter, however, are little changed. Eastern is also firm, and was slightly higher today. Unless rain comes soon the outlook is for a considerable advance over present quota-tions both in this city and all over th tions both in this city and all over the State.

Bradstreet's says: "The leading wool markets report a quiet trade. Everything depends upon the season for heavy weights. Dealers who are anxious to dispose of their stocks are doing so at concessions, but the majority are waiting for an improvement in trade, and hence are not willing to offer special inducements to buyers in order to effect sales. The manufacturers are not, as a rule, well supplied with orders, and many mills are shut down on account of low water, hence the consumption of wool has been light. California wools are flat, while the movement in Texas wools is very light."

Fresh ranch eggs continue scarce and firm. Eastern eggs are only in light supply. About 100 cases came in yesterday and found quick sale. A carload is due tomorrow and another on Wednesday.

The poultry market continues weak except turkeys, which were somewhat higher to-day.

There is no change in grain or milistuffs.

BASEBALL

Friscos Will Arrive Tomorrow rning—Thanksgiving Day Game. Morning-Thanksgiving Day Game. The San Francisco Baseball Club will noon and play their initial game with the newly-formed Los Angeles Club on Thanksgiving day. They will play seven games altogether, Thanksgiving, November 26, 28, 29, and December 1, 8, 5, 6. These games promise to be more interesting than any played here for years, and will no doubt be well at-tended from the start. There will be a grand parade on Thanksgiving day from 11 to 12 o'clock. Douglass's brass band will head the procession, followed by carriages with the players of both sides. The playing of the home team and the attendance of the public at these games will have a great deal to do with the admission of Los Angeles to the California League this spring. to the California League this spring.

To Those Who Have Learned the Lesson in . .

GEOGRAPHY

And all others interested, I wish to say a few words further regarding the East Whittier property. A good many have made inquiries, some have purchased, but we still have choice locations. Those who come first will get the choice. We expect many eastern people here to locate during the winter. There is no question as to the richness of the sell and the beauty of location, or to its adaptability to orange raising, and it is pronounced by experts the very choicest of lemon land. Lemons and Oranges are without question the wealth-producing fruits of Southern California, and the one who has ten acres or more in bearing orchards of these fruits has a fortune, not for today but for a lifetime, continually increasing; better than a settled annuity. The mess land on the southern slope of the Puente Hills, from the Rincon Gap eastward, beautiful, rich sheltered, warm in winter, cool in summer, is the garden spot of Los Angeles county and Southern California; Whittier and East Whittier the choicest of the choice. The magnificent East Whittier water system, with a capacity of 20,000,000 gals, daily now carrying 5,000,000 gals, makes the future of this tract of land assured. The fountain artesian wells of the company have just been measured and show a variation of only 2 per cent. from their flow when first open, establishing the permanency of the flow. For the present the price of the East Whittier tract is $200 per acre with water, and you get a clean title to both. The terms are liberal, one quarter flown, balance in one, two and three years at 7 per cent. We do not sell to speculators, only to those who will improve, thus insuring the best class of people. The East Whittier tract is close to schools, both graded and primary, and to the Whittier Academy, just opened with most promising outlook; best of teachers and good attendance. A Friends' Church, with fine buildings and the most prosperous and largest society in Southern California. An M. E. Church, with a large and growing society and fine buildings and the most pr
